Bank Goes Over 3 Million Mark

Largest Deposits in the History of Canyon; Paying Off On Property

Deposits of the First National Bank have been soaring above the three million dollar mark during the past two weeks. This is the first time in history that so much money has been on deposit in the local bank.

Deposits have steadily increased during the past two years in spite of the large subscriptions to War Bonds which have been made by the people of Randall county.

There are now more than 2,250 accounts in the local bank, which is another record for Canyon. These accounts have increased more than 750 during the past two years, stated W. C. Black, vice president and cashier.

The large deposits and the increased number of people who have checking accounts indicates the healthy financial condition which exists in the county. In the meanwhile, farmers have been paying debts on their land to such an extent that the loan business has steadily declined during this period of time. This also applies to city property and installment loans. As a general thing the loan business in all lines has greatly declined during the past year.

So popular has Mr. Geltsch been that in many places he has appeared three or more years. He is described as a musician whose playing appeals to the hearts and the minds of the people, and as one of the most artistic of present day concert violinists, with power of interpretation amply supported by potent technique.

He has been heard by audiences in every state.

The two older boys stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Thompson while their father was away.

Buford E. Oldham, Former Canyon Man, Is Dead

A pioneer business man of Canyon, Buford E. Oldham, died Saturday. His home has been in Dallas for many years.

Mr. Oldham and his brother, W. O. Oldham, started the Oldham Hardware Co. in Canyon in 1902. T. C. Thompson applied for a job with the new firm and was hired before the stock of merchandise was opened. This was the first experience of Mr. Thompson in the hardware business. In two years the Oldhams sold the business to the Canyon Hardware Co. and moved to Portales where they entered the banking business. Mr. Thompson continued with the business, and in 1908 organized the Thompson Hardware Co.

Mr. Thompson has been in touch with the Oldhams since they left and visited with them in Dallas a few years ago.

Creative Writing Course Offered For the Summer

On June 6, the class in Creative Writing, under the direction of Miss Louisa Grace Erdman of Amarillo got under way at the college.

This is a course for those who wish to write and to market the things they write. It meets at eight o'clock, and the following hour is devoted to all those students who have extra time to spend working under the supervision of the instructor. The class is still open to townspeople who wish to gain help in this field.

Miss Erdman is the author of "Separate Star," a widely quoted and reviewed book which deals with the life of a young teacher in a small community. Her second book will be off the press this summer. She has had many articles in nationally distributed magazines of the United States and Canada. She is regularly a member of the staff of the Amarillo public schools.

Owen Williams Buys Building For Post-War

Owen Williams, owner of the Canyon Tailoring Co., has bought the building formerly occupied by the Monarch Tailor Shop. He plans to move his plant to the new location after the war.

The building now occupied by Mr. Williams' plant was sold last year to Cooper's "M" System. After the war a modern food store building will be erected on this location, according to Clay Cooper. It was therefore necessary for Mr. Williams to seek a new location.

Improvements will be made on the building and new machinery installed when the move can be made, states Mr. Williams.

Dr. R. Thomsen Resigns Post in Amarillo Church

Dr. R. Thomsen, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Amarillo, Sunday morning tendered his resignation.

Spokesmen for the congregation have announced the resignation will be acted upon at a meeting next Sunday morning.

Dr. Thomsen, who has been the First Presbyterian pastor for 35 years, held three pastorates before coming to Amarillo. He was ordained a Presbyterian minister 45 years ago in Memphis, Tenn.

In tendering his resignation, Dr. Thomsen asked that a successor be named before September 1, 1945.

The Amarillo minister, who has held the local pastorate longer than any Presbyterian minister in Texas has served a single church, had previously indicated his intention to retire. Friends last fall presented him with a purse for a new home now under construction.

Dr. Thomsen has preached in Canyon many times, as well as speaking at various patriotic and educational meetings. He is one of most forceful speakers in Texas.

Wheat Suffers With No Rain

Yield Has Been Greatly Cut; Hot Wind Tuesday, First of the Season

The wheat yield of Randall county has been greatly cut by the continued drought. However, the yield will be better than was anticipated two or three weeks ago when the drought became serious.

While some wheat acreage is being plowed under, a majority of the farmers of Randall county believe that the wheat is sufficiently heavy that it will pay to harvest.

A light rain Wednesday night, amounted to .22 of an inch. This brought the total for May to .42 of an inch. The total for 1945 now stands at 4.65 inches. During May, 1944, there was a total of 2.24 inches, and a total of 6.77 for the year.

A rain fell in the north part of the county Monday night, ranging up to half inch. Considerable hail fell with this rain. Harley Burrus says that his wheat loss will run from one-third to one-half of the crop. Leo Zimmer and L. T. Campbell had heavier losses on their wheat, according to reports. Other wheat suffered from this hail. No rain fell in Canyon.

Judge Hunt states that no disposition has been made of the 40,000 brick which were taken from the cupola.

Overseas Papers To Have Request Before Mailing

The Canyon News is being mailed weekly to a large number of men and women in service overseas. We know that all of them appreciate receiving the newspaper regularly.

A new regulation becomes effective July 1. The News must have a signed request that the paper be mailed to them overseas. All those who are now receiving The News should write this request at once. It makes no difference as to who may be paying for the subscription — the request, signed by the receiver, must be filed with The Canyon News.

This new regulation does not affect men who are stationed in the United States, but is applied when men are shipped overseas. A postcard will be sufficient. Thanks.

Treasury Is After Money Horders

All Banks Are Required To Report on Withdrawal of Large Bills

Every banking house in the nation has received notice that starting on June 1 every withdrawal of large bills and all deposits of large bills must be reported to the treasury department.

There has been such large withdrawals of large bills that banks are unable to keep $50 and larger bills on hand. Perhaps too many persons are carrying these large bills, but the treasury department is suspicious that the withdrawal of these bills of large denomination indicate efforts to evade income taxes. Also large bills may be used to deal in black market products.

The banks must ask questions regarding such bills, and this information will be forwarded to the treasury department. The treasury department has requested Congress for the employment of 5,000 additional agents to check on income tax evasions and black market operations.

Drought Causes a Large Number to Sell Cattle

A large number of cattle are being marketed because of the drought.

While grass is getting short, most stockmen have ample pasture, provided there is rain during June. However with present cattle prices high and the government urging that stockmen reduce their herds to actual needs, many Randall county stockmen are selling their surplus cattle. Prices are very satisfactory now, but if the drought continues and large herds are forced on the market there could easily soon develop a distress market with lower prices.

Tough Schedule W. T. Football

Coach Gus Miller Takes on Star Teams of Southwest for Fall Season

By far the roughest football schedule ever charted for West Texas State College was announced last night by Athletic Director W. A. Miller.

We will be on our way to the Rose Bowl if we win all nine of those games," added the Coach, who has already started worrying.

The 1945 schedule:

Sept. 14: Eastern New Mexico at Canyon.
Sept. 22: Baylor at Waco.
Sept. 29: Tulsa at Tulsa.
Oct. 6: New Mexico University at Canyon.
Oct. 13: Amarillo Field at Amarillo.
Oct. 20: Open.
Oct. 27: Texas Tech at Lubbock.
Nov. 3: Lubbock Field at Canyon.
Nov. 10: U. S. Marines of Fort Worth at Canyon.
Nov. 17: Colorado Springs at Colorado Springs.

That card speaks for itself.

Baylor, Tulsa and Texas Tech rank with the best in collegiate circles. In fact, Tulsa has played in bowl games the last four years.

Any service eleven is double tough. And there are three on the card—Amarillo Field, Fort Worth Marines and Lubbock Field.

New Mexico, Colorado College and Eastern New Mexico don't play the game for character building, alone.

Both Lieutenants are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Olson of north of Canyon.

Editorials

You money horders—if there are any in Randall county—better pull those big bills out of your hidden socks and get them back into circulation. The government has taken notice of the disappearance of $50 to $1,000 bills which have been pulled out of circulation. Uncle Sam is a curious old cuss when it comes to money which he loans to the people for operational purposes. Reports from every bank in the nation shows that bills of large denominations have been withdrawn regularly by certain persons. This has been going on since the war started. Uncle Sam figures that such withdrawals are for only two purposes—either an attempt to beat the income tax, or for black market operations. As a result, the treasury department has notified every bank in the nation that monthly reports must be made of withdrawals of bills of large denomination, as well as deposits of such bills. Every bank must make these reports. Such customers may be asked embarrassing questions when they seek to get away with these bills. Furthermore, the treasury department has requested Congress to employ 5,000 investigators. Those who withdraw large sums of money will have one of these agents of the treasury hot on his heels to ask for an explanation of his actions. The laws of this nation are very liberal on every subject, excepting one; that is income tax evasion. Al Capone broke almost every law of the criminal statute, and was able to beat the cases. But when he lied about his income tax, Uncle Sam landed him behind the bars.

The next step of President Truman will be to clean up the State Department, according to Washington observers. The millionaire club which took over this department is looked on with suspicion by students of world affairs. The Millionaires are not held in suspicion because of their wealth. Most of us from the common herd would like to exchange places with them. There is nothing wrong with wealth, which has been honestly achieved. But the trouble is that our State Department is in the hands of British-loving, Russian-hating men. Wall Street has been so engrossed in taking orders from Churchill, for the profit that could be made from the war, that they have overlooked the strength of Russia. Perhaps America should hold in disdain everything that is Russian, but we cannot forget that it was the mighty power of the Russian army which finally turned the hordes of Hitler back, and gave the Huns their death blow. The thing that is so greatly needed in America today is an understanding of all countries, rather than swallowing the English viewpoint without question.

We get a real jolt when we study the various ways in which Uncle Sam is getting gyped in this war. Of course we can afford to spend a lot of money to whip our enemies in view of the fact that we have suffered no invasion, either by land or through the air. But we are paying for the right of defending our Allies. The British collect millions of dollars for our ships which pass through the Suez Canal, taking supplies to our Allies. We give free passage through the Panama Canal to all our Allies. We pay for the use of British and French airports, docks, railroads, and even are charged for use of their highways. When the war is over we shall owe both England and France for the privilege of sending several million men to run the Germans back home. It will be a wonder if Germany does not present us a bill for the damage we have done to that nation. Uncle Sam is a sucker when it comes to paying off.

Court action faces H. J. R. 13. This amendment will be submitted to a vote of the people on Aug. 25. Because the legislature was unable to agree on the wording of this amendment, copy was mailed to 39 counties too late for publication by the required time. Opponents to the amendment will take the question to court. As the matter stands, few people have much sympathy with the legislature in this matter. It was known weeks ago that the amendment must be passed by a certain date in order to be submitted to the voters in August. Newspapers were not even advised that this amendment would be mailed out at a later date; therefore, publications proceeded as usual. It reminds us that several years ago a Secretary of State fooled around and failed to mail out copy on amendments in time. As a result frantic telegrams were sent to the newspapers to run extra editions in order to include the amendments during a certain week. That was the Secretary of State speaking, but when it came to paying for these extra editions, the Board of Control rejected the claims. The newspapers had merely been penalized for the negligence of this state official.

President Truman continues to pour oil on old sores. He invited former President Herbert Hoover to the White House. Hoover fed starving Europe after World War I. He should know something of the tremendous problem that confronts the nation in its present job of feeding Europe. Rather than calling in some wild-eyed social reformer, Truman is practical and calls in an expert. Even Republicans know a few things which might help the government. Then the President wrote John Nance Garner to come and see him. Garner played such a prominent role in Washington for so many years that he likewise has many practical ideas as to how the government should be run. Truman has sent invitations to Alf Landon and Tom Dewey, former candidates for President on the Republican ticket. It seems that the President wants to get all of the information possible from as many varied sources as possible in order to meet the knotty problems which confront the nation. Inviting these former leaders to the White House is a fine idea, and something different from the Roosevelt idea of punishing your enemies rather than seeking their co-operation.

Well, well, well! When you read the spoutings of the deposed Homer P. Rainey of the University of Texas you are led to believe that no faculty member may open his mouth without approval of the board of regents. Some mouths, like that of Rainey's, should be padlocked to that extent. After the various Rainey broadcasts from Austin, it is refreshing to have a letter signed by 135 university professors. "In our judgment tenure and academic freedom are secure at the University of Texas," is the pertinent assertion of these professors. Three of the signers have been in the university one year, and the tenure of the others range up to 50 years in the university. Does that sound like there was no academic freedom at the university? Rainey should acknowledge that he was fired for incompetency and refusal to co-operate with the regents.

A soldier made us feed good Saturday. All Canyon citizens notice how many soldiers from the Amarillo Army Air Field come here for the week end. Several soldiers have praised the friendliness of Canyon. One old boy from a big eastern city explained it this way: "I have been in service for 18 months, and have been shipped all over the nation. I have been in a dozen camps. When I first came to Canyon people started speaking to me on the streets. At first I thought it was an accident. Now I know that it is the friendly attitude of Canyon citizens to the visitors here. The boys at the Field have noticed this, and we certainly appreciate it." Kindness and friendliness always pays. Keep up the good work.

When the depression was on, a prospective buyer walked into a store. Instead of receiving attention from a clerk, one hallowed across the store. "Do you want something, or are you just a looker?" If the customer intended to buy, this would have burned all the buying instincts out of him. During the war while goods were scarce, courteous treatment in business firms has been hard to maintain. The position is that "if you don't want the goods, some one will buy it next minute." This situation will be changed after the war and goods become abundant. What we mean is, that courtesy always pays. Treating a customer shabbily today may mean the loss of a real buyer in months that are to come. Courtesy pays dividends.

Mrs. Truman let it be known as soon as she became First Lady that the President was going to run his office. She gives no interviews, and does not seek to promote herself as White House oracle, or pose as ears for the President. The people of the nation approve the quiet dignity which Mrs. Truman assumes in conducting the affairs of the White House.

We hate to see it, but isolationists in Congress are going to try to wreck the work of the peace conference at San Francisco. Senator Taft is questioning the actions at San Francisco. Senator LaFollette made a three hour speech the other day, largely devoted to the shortcomings of the conference. Americans should wait until the conference is over and the results tabulated.

lated. Naturally the conference will not accomplish all that America would like to see. But half a loaf is better than no loaf. There had to be a start on peace negotiations. While such a start may seem inadequate, it must be remembered that world peace is a touchy question which cannot be accomplished in a day, or in one conference.

When President Truman was advanced from Vice-President, this office became vacant. There is no way to fill the office. With practically a four year term to fill, Congress is worried that no provision is made to name a vice-president in case of the death of the President. Under the constitution, the Secretary of State would next succeed to the presidency. Congress is worried some more. Stettinus is new in political affairs. He knows little about international affairs, and therefore would make a poor President. Congress is considering making a change of succession, by naming the Speaker of the House to succeed in case of death of both the President and Vice President.

We could never see any good in a drouth. The farmers have this satisfaction for 1945: they had fine wheat pasturage, and will be able to raise a profitable row crop—provided it rains during June. Predictions are that a good row crop would actually bring in more money than a wheat crop. However, farmers who practice summer fallowing report that they will make a pretty good wheat crop in spite of the drouth. Most of them are now convinced that they shall follow this practice to a greater extent in the future.

A half dozen wars have been budding in Europe since Germany has been whipped. No sooner were the Germans run out of France than little civil wars started. England fought the Greeks; Tito fought the Italians; the French fought the Syrians. The strong arm of Russia has held the Poles in check or another civil war would have been in progress there. Over in China the Communists and the anti-Communists have been at the throats of each other throughout the war with Japan. We think that we are civilized, but a glance at the wars in progress would indicate that the nations have a long way to go before we really learn much.

A good habit to cultivate now is to like the things you get, if you can't get the things you like.

Tucumcari Planning Big Opening For the Conchas Dam

The $28,640,000 Conchas Dam and Arch Hurley Conservancy District project will be officially dedicated August 9, in "one of the most gala entertainment programs ever attempted by the Sunshine State," it has been announced. Water from Conchas will irrigate 45,000 virgin acres in the heart of the former dust bowl, affording 480 additional farm units surrounding Tucumcari. It marks completion of the first project in the dust bowl by the Department of Interior, Bureau of Reclamation and Corps of Army Engineers.

Tucumcari has planned 24 hours of free entertainment. Top-ranking officials from Washington will make the formal dedication over a coast to coast radio hook-up. Motion picture stars will add to the growing list of celebrities and entertainers.

Newsreel coverage, as well as press and magazine, has been assured. Free rodeo events, parades, band concerts, thrill shows, stage shows, street dances and a host of other events are planned for the day and night entertainment.

A story that might help to end all absent-minded professor stories concerns the absent-minded professor who walked into the barber shop. He sat himself next to a pretty red head, who was having her hair bobbed at the moment.

"Haircut, please," ordered the professor.

"Certainly," said the barber, "But, if you really want a haircut, would you mind taking your hat off first?"

The absent-minded professor hurriedly removed his hat.

"Oh, I'm terribly sorry," he apologized, as he looked around, "I didn't know there was a lady present!"

The first morning after the honeymoon, the husband got up early, went down to the kitchen and brought his wife her breakfast in bed. Then her husband spoke: "Have you noticed just what I have done?"

"Of course, dear; every single detail," she answered.

"Good; that's how I want my breakfast served every mornin' after this."

New York Township Has Jail for Sale

NEW YORK. — Castile township in New York has a jail for sale and an official said it would make a very satisfactory garage. The town board rejected 3 bids because they were too low — the highest was $300. The building is said to be worth $1,500. There has been no occupant of the jail for the last three years.

Officer Kills Six, Has the Evidence

Mails Home Photographs Of His Victims.

IN GERMANY. — The skinny young lieutenant looked almost girlish except for his sandy mustache. But killers come in strange trappings, and he had killed six men—all Germans.

He had pictures to prove it. "I didn't have any camera of my own," he said, "so I just crawled up to the men I shot and took their pictures out of their paybooks."

"I mailed them to my folks. I wanted to show them I wasn't over here for nothing—and that was the best evidence I could think of. I am pretty sure I have killed more than that—but there were other soldiers shooting too, those times. That makes it hard to be certain. But those six guys I nailed myself. I fought them alone and killed them alone."

He paused and then added slowly: "I don't mind my folks knowing what I did in the war, but my children will never know that I ever killed a man. For all I will ever tell them they will think I spent my time in the army sitting in a supply dump, passing out rations. I couldn't stand for my little daughter to learn I had killed anybody. She might not understand. Things will be different in a few years when she will be looking at things in a different way."

"She might not understand—and I don't want her ever to know."

Dog Roams 6,000 Miles; Finally Locates Owner

PITTSBURG, CALIF. — Joker, a black cocker spaniel, was desolate when his master, Capt. Stanley C. Raye, went off to war.

For 13 days he wandered restlessly around home, then disappeared.

But Joker knew where he was going—and got there.

Mrs. Raye this week received a letter from her husband—6,000 miles away on a South Pacific island. Joker is with him and as excited as the captain at the reunion.

The captain wrote that he was sitting in his tent when an officer came down the road leading a black cocker on a leash.

Raye shouted one word: "Joker!" It was enough. The little dog's frenzy of joy persuaded the foster owner to surrender title on the spot.

Captain Raye said the officer told him he had found the dog trotting through an army camp, hurriedly sniffing this way and that "as though he were looking for some one." The officer adopted Joker and took him along with him to the Pacific.

Though Income-Tax Free, This Man Pays Up Anyway

LOS ANGELES.—J. M. Myska, 65, who makes cotton candy for carnival concessionaires, says he doesn't earn enough to pay a federal income tax, but he always contributes something to "my government."

Usually it's $100 a year, but this time Harry C. Westover, internal revenue collector, announced he had received $75 from Mr. Myska with a note explaining the latter had been ill and couldn't make so much cotton candy.

"I hope this enclosure, although it is not so large as I would like, will help bring this horrible war to an immediate end, so we all can be free again and our boys on both fronts can return home," said Mr. Myska's note.

Russian Soldier Finds His Long Lost Sister

MOSCOW.—Sgt. Ivan Uliashenko was happiest of all the Red army conquerors of Elbing. He found his sister there.

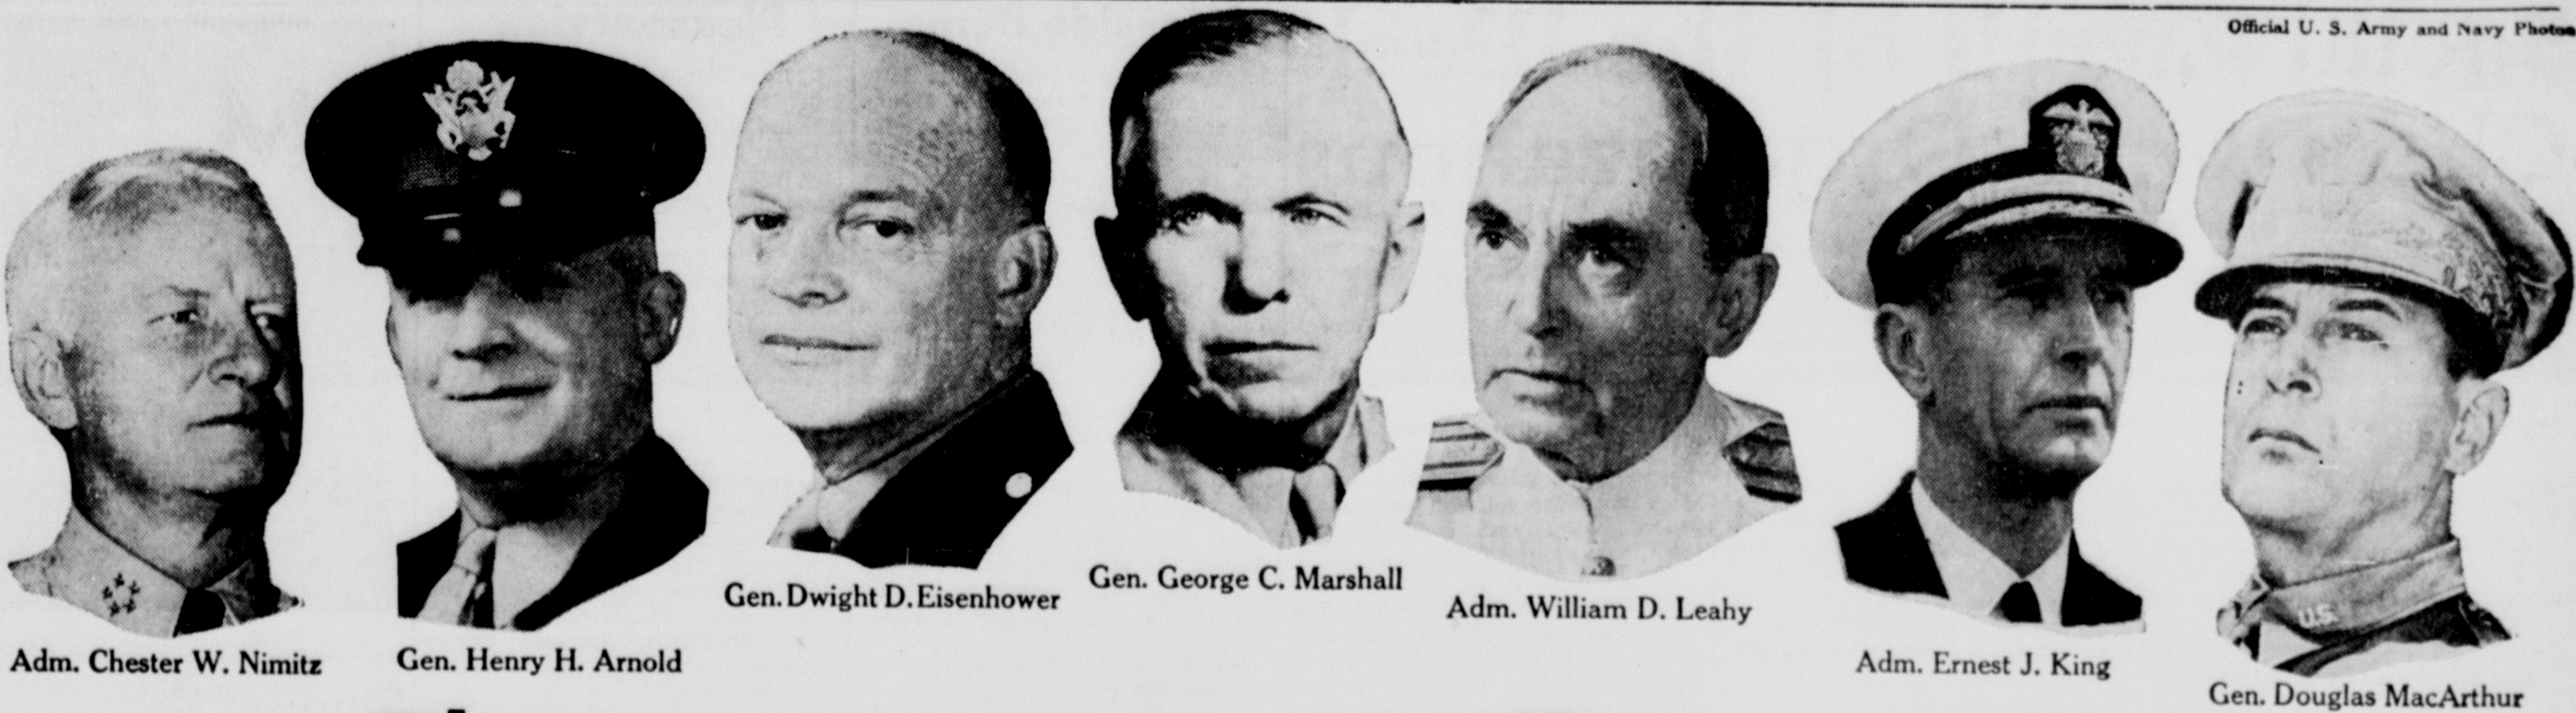

The sergeant was riding in a truck past a group of 100 Soviet women near the East Prussian city, where they had been held as labor slaves. Pravda related. His sister spotted him and called out. Uliashenko jumped from the truck and embraced her. The sister, Alexandra, was taken off by the Nazis when they overran an Orel province village in 1941.

Maritime Commission Is Selling Surplus Stocks

WASHINGTON. — The maritime commission announced that its surplus stocks available for disposal on January 1 amounted to $6,142,721.

About 50 per cent was in new and used marine engines, ranging from 200 to 1,000 horsepower. Some sales have been made for export account. The Contract Settlement and Surplus Materials divisions of the commission has been using a "fixed price" sale policy, with the result that sales thus far have brought 81 per cent of original cost.

Study of Crime Will Be Taken Up By Officers

A study of crime prevention methods, with emphasis on juvenile control, will highlight an advanced school for criminal law enforcement officers to be held in Austin June 11 through 23.

Inspector L. D. Morrison of the Houston Police Department will be guest instructor in this phase of the school, which is being sponsored jointly by the Department of Public Safety, the Texas Police Association, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Another feature will be the mock trial of a murder case in which every type of scientific criminal investigation will be utilized.

Attention will be given to the handling of disorderly crowds and mobs, scientific lie detection, handling of returned military personnel, and many other subjects bearing on the unprecedented crime wave which police authorities expect after the war.

Some new techniques in investigation at the scene of a crime will be introduced by George W. Carlson, assistant special agent in charge of the FBI's San Antonio division, who recently attended a highly specialized FBI training course in Washington.

Director Homer Garrison of the Department of Public Safety will open the session with the warning that Texas law enforcement agencies, already over worked and under manned, will face in the next few years the supreme test of their courage and intelligence in coping with skyrocketing crime rates, internal disorders, and an unprecedented traffic problem.

City, county and state officers from all over Texas are expected to attend the school, which will be held at Camp Mabry.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert P. Jarrett and children spent Sunday at the home of her parents in Childress.

Pfc. Leavurn Thurmon is on a 15 day furlough at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Thurmon. Pfc. Thurmon is stationed at Tallahassee, Fla.

Wheat Poisoning of Cattle Studies by Ranchers and Agricultural Experts

Cowmen, wheatmen and government technicians met at the Agricultural Experiment Station, west of Amarillo, upon call of Dr. I. P. Trotter, Director of the Extension Service from A. and M., this week to consider the losses and the remedies for so-called "wheat poisoning" of cattle.

Pointing out that for several years, cowmen and farmers have lost thousands of dollars worth of cattle annually from this more or less mysterious malady, interested individuals met to try to fathom the cause and find the remedy.

Newton Harrell, ranchman of Armstrong county, led off in the discussion. J. M. Jones, of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, pointed out the importance of wheat pasturage in the Panhandle as a supplement to range grazing, and the fact that while the matter had been studied in the past, still little had been learned. In some cases animals had responded to an intravenous treatment of calcium gluconate. Simple epsom salts had been found helpful.

Mr. Jones pointed out that "this disease is not limited to wheat, but it has been experienced in mixed pastures. The type of soil is suspected to have something to do with it."

Apparently the same trouble has afflicted cattle in other parts of the world, notably in Australia. Studies there have indicated that molasses was a good supplemental feed, "because it is ordinarily so high in calcium and magnesium." This might indicate that one trouble with wheat pasturage was a mineral deficiency, as the discussion brought out, though the fact that molasses likewise acted as a laxative was mentioned.

Some of those present contended that wheat poisoning "is simply a calcium deficiency," limited to certain sections of the country. Dr. Charles Whitfield, of the Amarillo Station, pointed out that he had "heard of very few losses on rye or barley, or anything but wheat."

Jess Hill, Bushland farmer and ranchman, thought much of the local loss was from malignant edema instead of wheat poisoning. Fred Pegel, Amarillo wheat man, commented upon the general view that cows, rather than calves and yearlings, die from the disease, thought the fatalities came mainly at calving time.

H. M. Bainer, agricultural agent for the Santa Fe, said that the railroads were blamed for the losses in shipment, and emphasized their interest in the solution of the problem. Then E. A. Grist, of the State Livestock Sanitary Commission, entered a report for the conference detailing the mineral content of wheat pasture, and C. C. Brillhart, of the Spearman country, posed the need of a chemist.

The general opinion of the scientific men at the conference was that wheat poisoning was in effect the same ailment known as "grass tetany." The acute form brings on a spasmodic condition, "nervousness, excitement and the desire to fight." If bloated does not accompany the trouble, extreme bloating follows immediately after death. The general impression is that some mineral deficiency probably calcium is the underlying cause of the trouble. Treatment thus far usually consists of injection of calcium gluconate.

After dinner at the Experiment Station through the courtesy of the Agricultural Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, the conference resolved itself to a course of action and study under the leadership of Mr. Harrell, who is to appoint committees and begin active work upon the solution of the malady.

Officers Praised By Doolittle for Work in Air Corps

Special to News, England, V-E Day.—Among the 185,000 men and women of the Eighth Air Force congratulated today by Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, who assumed command of the Eighth in January, 1944, were 1st Lt. Ernest T. Sykes son of James T. Sykes of Rt. 2, Canyon, Texas, B-17 Pilot, and 1st Lt. Nan L. Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Johnson.

"I wish to extend my personal congratulations and my heartfelt appreciation to every one of you for the magnificent job you have done," Gen. Doolittle said in a message to all personnel.

"Each of you," he continued, "may be proud of your part in the defeat of Germany. I am proud of you. The world is proud of you."

The Eighth Air Force was the world's mightiest strategic bombing force. Its personnel of 185,000 was the equivalent of 12 infantry divisions, and it could send 21,000 airmen in 2,000 four engine bombers and 1,000 fighters over Germany at one time, a combat effort possible only through the support of tens of thousands of non-flying specialists.

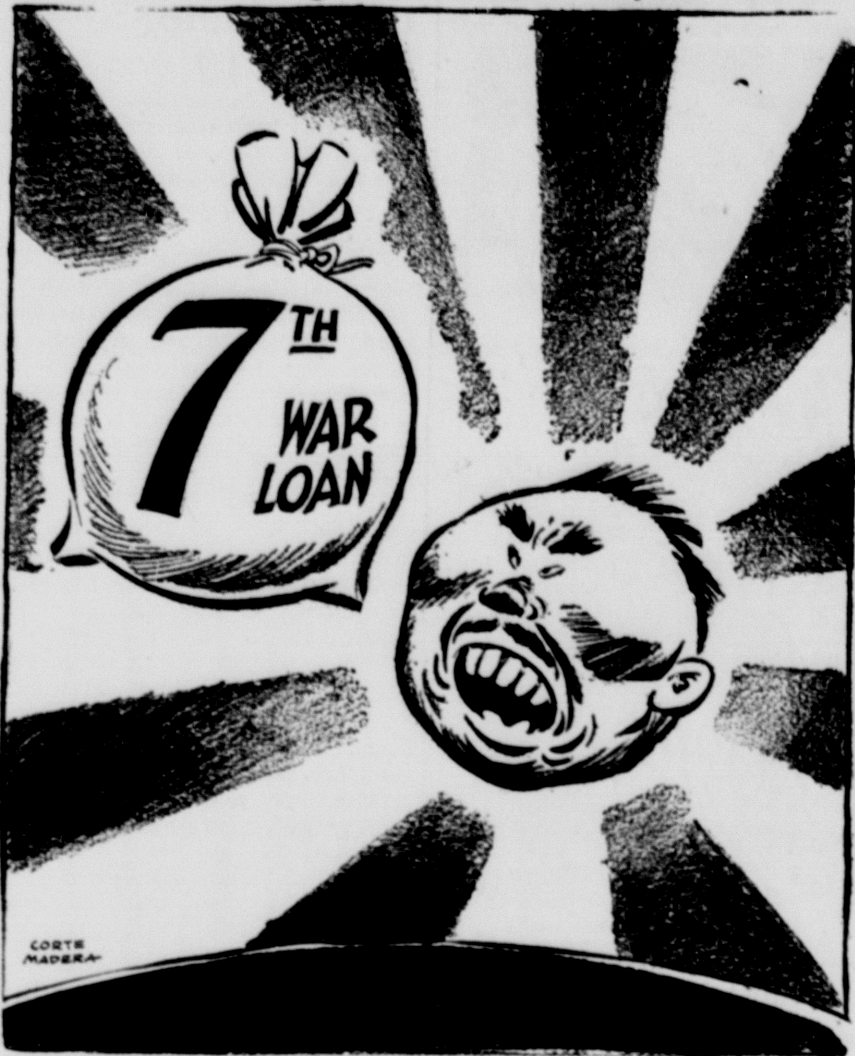

Since August, 1942, when combat operations began, Flying Fortresses and Liberators of the Eighth dropped more than 700,000 tons of bombs on enemy targets. Fighter pilots shot down 5,250 Nazi planes and destroyed 4,250 others on the ground. Bomber gunners shot 6,000 German interceptors out of the air.

The Eighth dropped an average of a ton of bombs every minute of the last 12 months.

Airmen of the Eighth were the first Americans to attack Germany. The early crews flew a handful of unescorted bombers against the powerful Luftwaffe, and proved the feasibility of an American idea—precision daylight bombing over the Reich.

As the Eighth grew in strength, it was assigned the task of crushing the German Air Force, which had to be done before the Allies could invade France. Bombers of the Eighth smashed Nazi aircraft production centers. Its fighters destroyed thousands of enemy planes in the air and on the ground.

Moving In for an Eclipse

After beating the Luftwaffe into relative impotency, the Eighth threw its growing weight against Germany's rail system and vital sources of oil. These campaigns, in conjunction with the British Royal Air Force and the U. S. 15th Air Force, disorganized all transport in Germany, restricted German military operations in the air and on the ground, and paved the way for the march of Allied armies across Europe.

For there's a practice formation at a quarter past eight.

Ten Don't's Outlined By Babson

BY ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., June 2.—Here are ten don't's:

1. Don't let any possible reconversion slump frighten you. In certain industries there must, of necessity, be some unemployment while switching over from war to peace work; but in most cases this slump will be only temporary. With it there will be a decline in the earnings of some companies but, after a readjustment for excess profits taxes, this should not be troublesome.

2. Don't buy the new low-coupon rate long-term bonds which are now being issued. Money rates will continue low for only a short time. The pendulum always has swung and is going to continue to swing. Many bonds now selling on a 3½ per cent basis will some time again be selling on a 6 per cent basis. Much lower prices for fixed-interest securities are inevitable.

3. Don't hold second-grade railroad securities any longer; but now take your profits. This applies to most railroad stocks and certainly to railroad income bonds which are now selling at fantastic prices. Railroad net earnings are headed for a severe postwar slump which will probably last many years.

Hold on to Good Stocks

4. Don't sell the general stock market. The Dow-Jones industrial averages will surely sell for more some time during the next twelve months than they do at the present time. This probably also applies to many utility stocks. I am especially bullish on the chain store stocks. I also like some of the convertible preferred which should combine reasonable safety with speculative possibilities.

5. Don't wait too long before buying the land upon which you hope to some day build a home. I don't like big commercial farm properties and am rather scared about city property; but well-located suburban land—both for homes and small farms—should be much higher as soon as building restrictions are removed.

Don't forget that inflation is with us and is bound to be more with us during the years ahead. The $25,000,000,000 of cash in the pants' pockets, cash drawers and socks of the American people, an increase of 300 per cent over prewar figures, will surely cause a postwar stampede for new houses, new furniture and new gadgets of all kinds. SUMMER COLDS

Winter Colds are very disagreeable, but they are not to be compared with that uncomfortable feeling of a Spring or Summer Cold.

Don't neglect the needed precautions that will keep away a cold. See your doctor, and then see your druggist. It is always wise to call upon the you consider that the supply of good stocks and bonds is even less than it was during prewar days, we are bound to see higher stock prices due to this inflationary situation.

7. Don't get hip on anything or anybody. Remember every locality, industry, job, home, investment, yes, and religion, has its advantages and disadvantages. Be tolerant and listen to the other fellow. Mix play and work, thrift and spending, friends and enemies, all in proper proportion. The same need for diversification in connection with investments is necessary for one's good character, health, income and happiness.

8. Don't be skimpy on money spent for the education of yourself or your children. If, in the years to come, the shadow of Russia ever falls on the United States, those who are experts in any one subject will have nothing to fear. Hence, the importance of having your children educated and trained to hold some necessary position under all economic conditions.

Don't Neglect Churches

9. Don't neglect the churches after the war is over. We talk about "fox-hole religion" among the servicemen, but there are many more foxholes here in the United States than there are abroad. The churches will especially be entitled to your attendance and support after this global warfare has come to an end. See that you then repay the churches for what they are now doing for you and your families.

10. Don't forget that you are going to die some time. Not only take care in making your will, but keep

From field telephones ...to farm telephones

The army field telephone set is a rugged product of telephone science. The same research and skill which go into these tough little battle talkers are going today into plans for postwar farm telephone service.

Already, research has found new ways to extend and improve farm service. Practical telephone men are busy right now with such developments as a system for sending telephone messages over electric power lines—new types of wire to string on poles or bury underground—dial telephone systems for small communities and surrounding farms—radiotelephones to reach remote spots.

When the wartime job eases up, plans for postwar farm telephone service will be ready to go.

Waiting for a train is one of the chief occupations in Arkansas—or was when I lived there. And the railroads provided nothing at most of the junctions except an intersection.

One of these places offering only a choice view of three billboards and a dismal swamp with croaking bull-frogs, had just a shed and not even a ticket agent. A traveler, getting off of one train, had to wait 10 hours for the next one. Late in the afternoon, a man came walking down the track, leveled a pistol on the traveler, took his money and then was about to leave, when the victim said:

"Hold on there! Before you came, I figured I was liable to be held up in this lonely spot, so I hid my gold watch. If I have to stay here for two more hours all by myself, I'll go crazy. If you'll keep me company until the train gets here, I'll give you the watch."

The robber agreed and the traveler kept his word. In fact, he always said afterward that he considered it the best trade he had ever made.

Fair Oaks used to be the most famous of all the places where the railroads were engaged in crossing. There was nothing fair about Fair Oaks except the name, which probably was bestowed by someone who never saw the place.

However, a few natives used to loaf around the depot and engage in two favorite sports: drinking chili tonic and whittling.

The most popular brand of chili tonic had a picture of a dragon on the bottle. One day, a fellow went into a store and said, "I want some of that chili tonic that looks like the devil on the outside and tastes like h— on the inside." The storekeeper had no trouble figuring out the brand.

Yes, sir, those swamp angels would sit around with their Arkansas tooth-picks—an Arkansas toothpick is a pocket-knife with a blade 11 inches long—and whittle. And when they'd used up the piece of wood they were whittling on, they'd just reach up and cut another slab out of the depot. Why, the railroad had to rebuild the depot three times a year!

McTavish had never had the reputation of being an early bird and things became so bad that the foreman reprimanded him. A few days later, noticing a considerable improvement, he complimented Mac on his changed ways.

"Aye," retorted the latter, "I've got a parrot now."

"But what has a parrot got to do with it. Didn't I advise you to get an alarm clock?"

"I bought one," admitted McTavish, "but after a morning or two I got used to it and then it failed to wake me, so I just got a parrot and now when I go to bed I hang the alarm over its cage. When it rings it awakens the parrot, and what the parrot says would awaken anybody."

Bob Foster Writes Interesting Comments on Mess Duty

Pfc. Robert W. Foster is in the Marine Corps in the Pacific. He has written a letter home full of interesting comments on the daily routine on his island:

I am winding up one week of mess duty; the first day wasn't bad as I was dishing out Spam and the only trouble I had was selling some of that stuff; the way some of the guys looked you would think I was trying to poison them. Some of them hid their mess gear under their jackets when they came by, some of them just turned up their noses, a few of them let me slap a slice in their pan and one or two intrepid souls asked for a second slice. I can see why they serve Spam so often; it is economical, 10 pounds of that stuff will feed a 1000 men, of course that is because 900 of them won't touch it. I have heard lots of reasons why our chow is so lousy but the most plausible one is that it will make a switch to K rations when we are in combat such a welcome change.

After just one day in the mess hall I got promoted to assistant pot walloper; that is a crew of 3 that do nothing but wash the pots and pans; my aggressive nature asserted itself almost at once and bingo, I was No. 1 pot walloper, one guy rounded them up and scraped them off, I washed them and another guy mopped the soapy water off and stacked them away. I never saw so many pots and pans in all my put together; sometimes they were stacked so high I couldn't see out, but that didn't make any difference, I wasn't going any place anyway. The first day that GI soap and the steel wool chewed my hands up like fresh cut hamburger; the second day they turned black, from the steel wool slivers, the third day the stumps bothered me some, but by the fourth day I could wrestle them with my elbows. The third day I slipped on the soapy floor and dropped the bowl of our little mixer on my right big toe; that bowl holds 30 gallons and weighs about 90 pounds; mashed my toe nail and it is going to come off. I went to the sick bay and a swabber took the dentist drill and bored a hole in the nail to let the blood out; that relieved the pressure and it doesn't bother me now.

I took a shower when I got off this morning; the water was tepid, not even chilly; that was the first time I had been able to tell the hot water tap from the cold by the temperature; while the water was a little warm I drew two buckets and put my clothes to soak; one bucket for dungarees and for my lighter, nicer things. Fancy, huh?

Have just been interrupted to go help fix dinner for 1500 guys; they are all fed now and out of the way for another 30 minutes. Have gotten to where I can stand it all right except for the look in their eyes; some of them look like they are saying, "I wouldn't do this to a dog" but maybe I'm wrong, maybe that hurt look is just cause it ain't fixed the way maw used to do it.

Got my washing scrubbed out and hung up between the ten rows; then we were swabbing the decks in the tents and I looked over next door and saw somebody sweeping dirty water, flipping it all over my clean wash; I thought it was Lindsey, familiarly called Big Stupe, to distinguish him from Little Stupe, and I screamed, "Hey Stupe, watch what you are doing with that broom, you're flipping that so and so hogwash over my so and so clothes." He stopped, but I went over there a minute later and it wasn't Big Stupe, it wasn't even Little Stupe, it was some guy I never saw before in my life. I just said, "Oh, I thought that was Stupid" and he said "Yeah, I thought that was what you thought." Embarrassing moments, but anyway he stopped messing up my clothes and they aren't quite bad enough to do over; I do have a time with my washing.

Will write when I can, but time and mess sergeants wait for no man.
